A resident student for five years from Whiterock, Kim has been editor of the Yearbook during his senior year. He enjoys listening to music and writing poetry. Besides furthering studies at U.B.C., Kim plans to travel after graduation.

PETER WESIK

In his first year at College, Pete has played a big part in Varsity football and basketball. After school he enjoys playing tennis and going to the beach. Pete plans on spending the next few years at U.B.C.

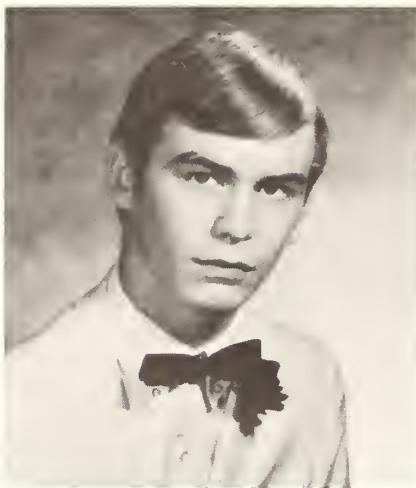

DAVE WHITLOCK

After five years at College, Dave has become another member of the V.C. branch of the Japanese motorcycle squad. After academics, he enjoys motocycling, fishing, swimming, and soccer. Dave plans on a higher education, possibly at U.B.C.

JOHN WILSON

During his four years here, John has spent a lot of time in Drama, soccer, football, and basketball. His spare time is spent aquatically: swimming, diving, or water-skiing. The next stop will be U.B.C. and hopefully a place in the medical or dental profession.

JIM WINGHAM

Jim is also a local twelfth year man. During this time he has worked for the Drama Club and passes spare time on cars, girls, and books. Jim will be at U.B.C. next year, where he plans on a commerce specialty.

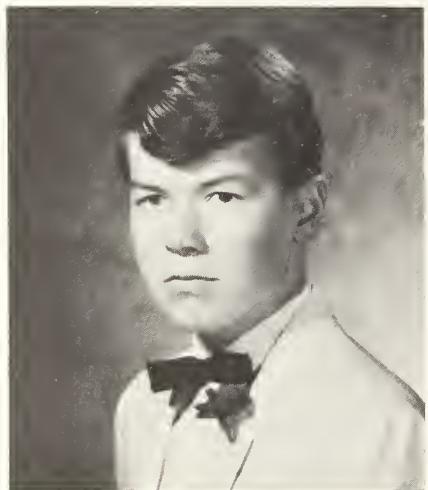

The guest ranch in Penticton provided the setting for the senior retreats. Mike Meegan finds the quiet Okanagan Lake a big help in his thoughts.

JOHN WOODS

A local St. Peter and Paul parishioner, John has made his name at College partly through his position as stage manager of Drama Club productions. John particularly enjoys meeting people and dating. He plans on majoring in theatre history at university.

BOB WYLIE

Bob has been a boarder for four years now from Masset, B.C. Between studies, study halls, he enjoys basketball and hunting. Bob's future consists of U.B.C. and a major in commerce and business administration.

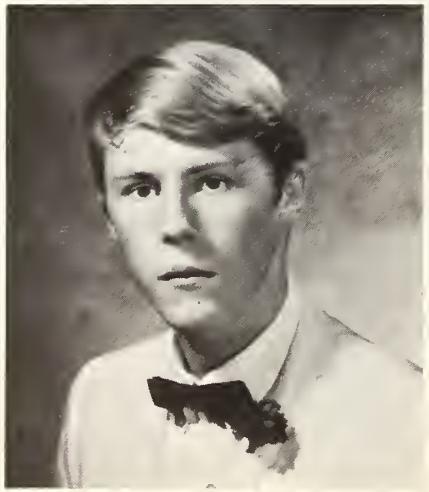

NORRIS H.C. YANG

In Canada only a short while before starting his senior year at College, Norris has become notorious as a very professional photographer. After working for Yearbook and Bowling Club, he enjoys tennis and badminton. He plans on a science degree from U.B.C. or S.F.U.

STEVE A. YEHLE

Another student spending an epic twelve years at College, Steve is from the local school parish. After the books and Drama Club, he enjoys golfing, dating, fishing and listening to real rock music. Steve plans to spend the next few years at U.B.C.

Br. Bucher and Br. Dawe reach the end of the "Miles For Millions" walk.

Moderator Br. Lyons gives advice to the Student Council.

COUNCIL

One of the more important organizations of the school, the Student Council is composed of class representatives from grades nine to twelve. Under the leadership of President Stan Kazun, the Council plans activities for the student body. These activities include school dances, pep rallies, guest speakers and the graduation festivities. This year saw the purchase of a portable mass kit and twelve cheerleader sweaters. The Council is indebted to moderator Br. Lyons for his consistent efforts and encouragement.

An outstanding job was done on this year's Leadership Conference — a gathering of eighty-five students from all over the Lower Mainland brought together to discuss the problems that beset high school youth today.

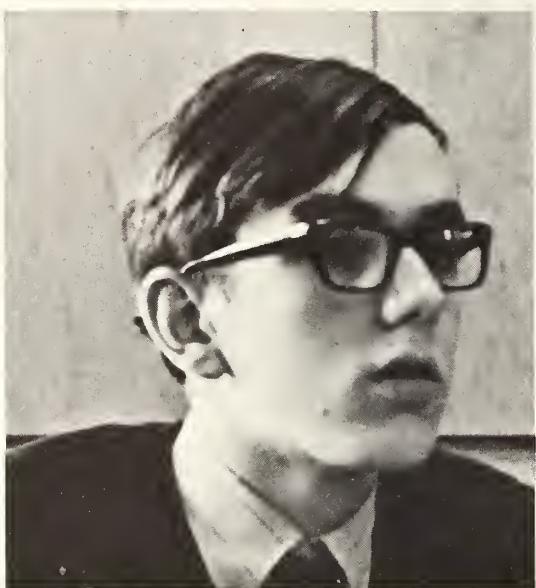

Ron Norman finds the best way to blow out a candle during the grade ten coffee party.

The executive, Wayne Bedford, Bill Fraser, and Br. Nash, smile as they foresee a future humorous argument.

Gerry Redmond listens closely to his opponent's remarks.

Leonard Giroday waits for his opponent to say too much.

Robert Godfrey seems to think that he has the whole debate question sewn up.

With divided attention, a group of debators look forward to a losing battle.

PUBLIC SPEAKING AND DEBATE

Public Speaking and Debate is a longtime organization of Vancouver College and this year the membership is especially strong. The club is very aptly guided by moderator Br. D.F. Nash, president Wayne Bedford, and vice-president Bill Fraser. Wayne Bedford is also the president of the Society of Independent Debators. Another member of the club, Tony Formby, was sent to Toronto to represent Vancouver College in a national debate. The highlight of the year is the competition for the Newman Cup which took place at the Convent of the Sacred Heart in March.

Kevin O'Neill sees a loophole in the argument but Rich Longpre wants to wait.

Gary Koss prepares to shuffle another set of file cards.

SENIOR RESIDENT STUDENTS

The Senior Resident Students form an elite group in the school. The life of a resident student is somewhat similar to that of a day student. There are regular study classes in the evening to keep up their grades. On the second floor of McCormack Hall, the boarders have a recreation room and a T.V. room. Here, they enjoy the comforts of life including pool, ping-pong, poker, and chess; to relax there is television and music. The resident students also keep active in the various sports and activities around the school.

The Junior Resident Students form one large family at the College. They live on the third floor of McCormack Hall where plenty of activity is provided to absorb their abundant supply of energy. They are engaged in many vigorous sports throughout the school year. Studying is an important aspect in the life of a resident student. Through the help and supervision of the moderators, Brs. Kelly, Rose, and Carrothers, the junior students form good study habits to last the rest of their school years.

Charles DeMarre ponders over his next move.

Ruth and Eileen put up with the headaches of a Greenwich Village apartment.

DRAMA CLUB

"I'm very sorry ladies, but you'll have to go!" insists Tony Bekenn.

Backstage the cast gets prepared for another night of "My Sister Eileen".

Mr. Bob Ross, Drama director, led the club in very successful performances.

The Club has maintained the high standard set by Director Bob Ross and Moderator Br. Fitzpatrick. The Little Flower Academy and Vancouver College Drama Clubs merged to put out performances which entertained audiences for two and a half hours. Singing a delightful medley of tunes, the Glee Club set the mood before each performance. The stage crew was another factor in the success of the production. Headed by John Woods, the crew was on cue and swift so that everything flowed smoothly.

John Woods receives a gift for his efficient work backstage.

Ruth (Helen Croft) gives back the hats to the Brazilian ambassador (Louis Conway) under the amazed eyes of her father (Larry Ozero) and her sister (Dawn-Elena Reilly).

FRONT ROW, Left to Right: Doug Cullen, Jim Loftus, Bennet Kopecki, Br. J.C. Dunn, John Nixon, Mike Redmond, Chris Bernard. MIDDLE ROW: Doug Johnstone, Chris Barber, Faustin Chouinard, Mark LeBlanc, Carl Wimmer, Assu Nijdam, Ian Stuart. BACK ROW: Dave Garayt, John Roberts, Gerry Redmond, John Daws, Dave Nixon, Brendan O'Connell, Gary Koss.

Gary Koss, Doug Johnstone, John Roberts, and Gerry Redmond, representing the Czechoslovakian delegation, prepare for the General Assembly.

The U.N. Club was well organized and quite active this year. The President John Nixon and his assistants—Vice-President: Bennet Kopecki, Secretary: Mike Redmond, and Treasurer: Jim Loftus,—aided in providing an interesting club. The club participated in model assemblies at Shoreline and Burnaby and held its third annual assembly this year.

UN CLUB

The Canadian delegation, Marc Leblanc, Jim Loftus, and John Nixon, actively participate in the Shoreline Model U.N. Assembly.

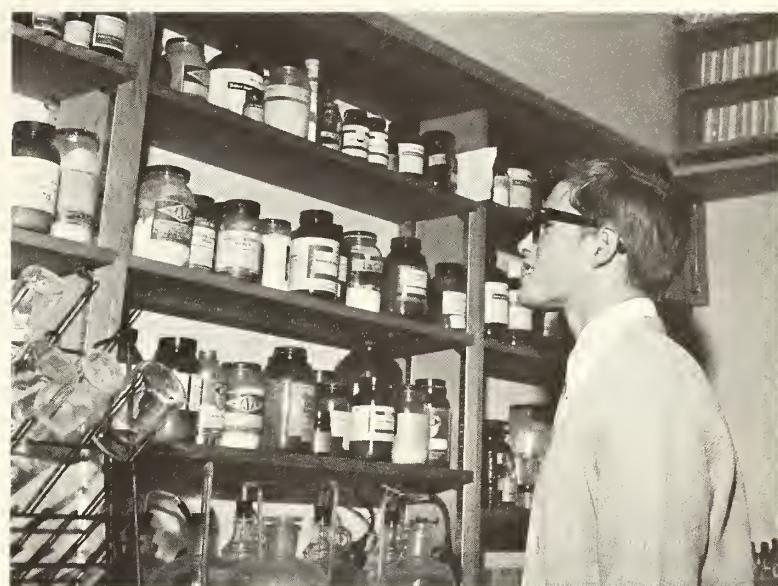

SCIENCE CLUB

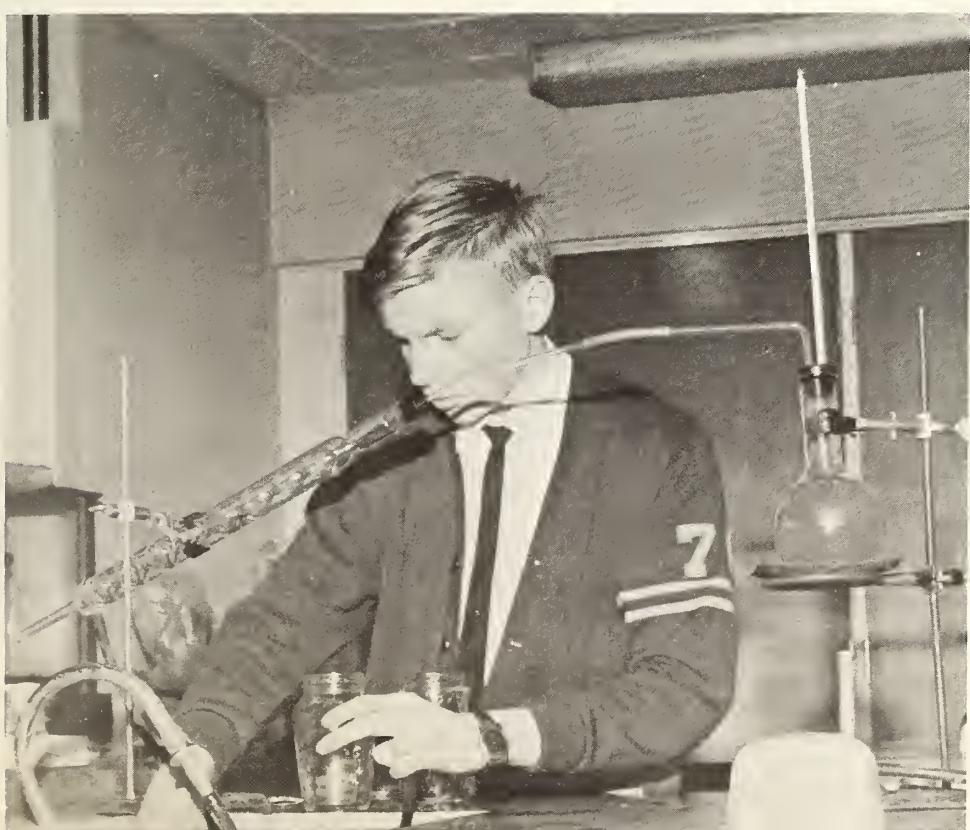

"Good Grief! Do you think Br. Drayton's plants will ever survive this?" enquires John Roberts of Chris Bernard.

The Science Club consists of students interested in the phenomena of science. A small membership and extensive liberties of the laboratories allow its members to pursue their individual interests. Although some experiments do end with unpredicted results, everyone broadens his scope of scientific knowledge. Br. Drayton, moderator, proved to be an invaluable aid to both the members and the existence of the club.

"Now where did Br. Lyons manage to place that phenolphthalein," muses Chris Bernard.

Gary Koss lends all of his concentration to the preparation of his refined "brew".

BOWLING

This is the first year of existence for the Bowling Club and the response was excellent. Just before Christmas the league gave way to the Fireballs who got the highest team score. Single champions received different trophies: Borden Hayward received the trophy for the highest scorer in all the games.

"A perfect ball," says Larry Ozero to himself.

Mike Njakara ponders his next shot.

"Now if I can get another strike . . ." thinks Br. Dunn.

PEP CLUB

Members of the Pep Club, Rich Hugh, Don Inverarity, John Nixon, and John Cliffe, give another victory cheer.

School Spirit in the school is aroused by the efforts of the Pep Club. Through their work, they lead the student body in attending and cheering at all College games. The club is composed of enthusiastic students from grades ten to twelve. Under the leadership of Don Inverarity, they prepare cheers and give example to students at pep rallies and games. Immense student support is gained and our teams come on strong.

ART

Mike Redmond and John Smulders gaze at their creation, awed by its magnificence.

The art class is a special activity where students allow their artistic talents to run freely. The fledgling artists receive helpful assistance from Jim Harrington and Br. Dunn, their moderator.

"Now where did I put that dot?" ponders John Gawthrop.

"What do you mean you want your sheet of copper back?" mutters John McClarnon.

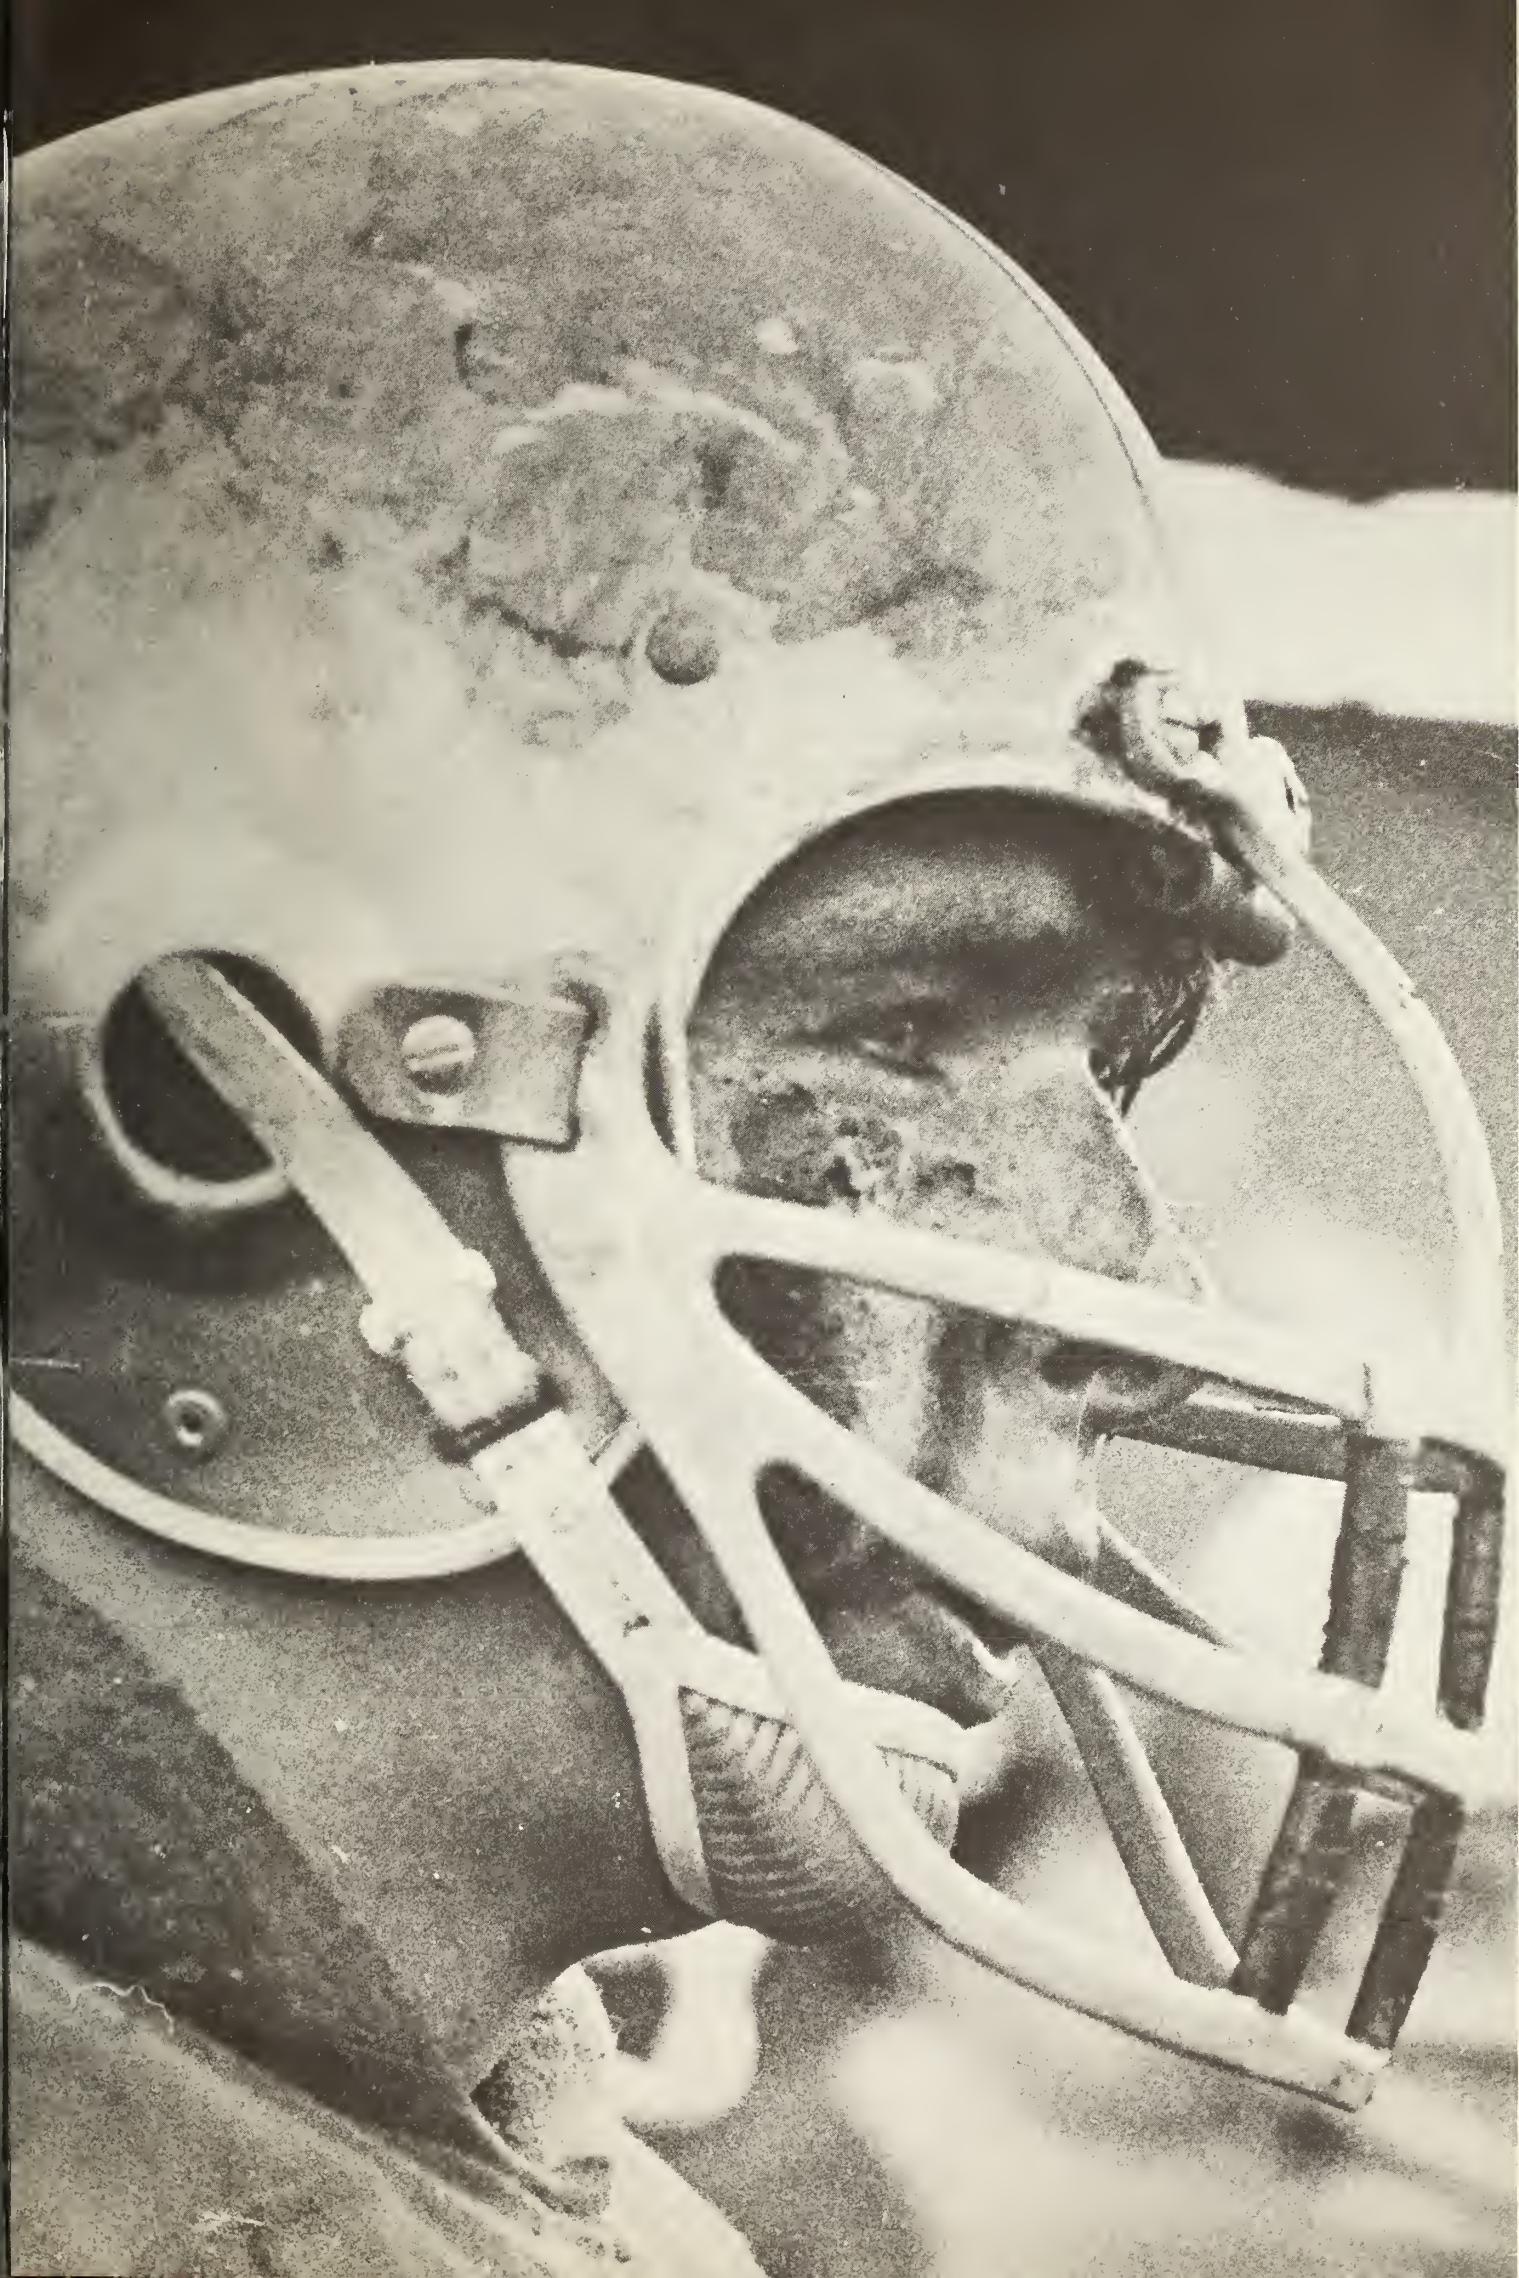

"Sure it's a nice picture but I just don't want to buy it."

COPPER TOOLING

Under Br. Ridgley's, Br. King's, and Br. Rose's guidance the copper tooling class produced some veritable works of art. The students diligently applied themselves to produce images on sheets of copper. A long time dormant, the copper tooling class is making a good reappearance.

Longpré and Harrington clear the way for Kevin O'Neill.

VARSITY FOOTBALL '68

Paul Giroday barges up the middle.

The 1968 Irish opened their season with a 14-2 loss to Mercer Island, displaying a strong defense but an inconsistent offense. The team then travelled to Wenatchee, a highly rated American school, and were beaten 33-0. Back home in friendly surroundings, the Irish crushed Britannia 35-0, and then returned south only to lose a hard fought game to East Bremerton 19-6. The following Saturday the Irish travelled to O'Dea, and handed them a 19-8 loss. The team then returned home and began play in the Skyline League, first smashing St. Thomas More 33-0, and then Centennial 42-0. The Irish played poorly in their next game but were still more than a match for Killarney, a strong Vancouver & District team, winning 31-0. Against the strongest Notre Dame team in years the Irish couldn't get started. A fired-up Notre Dame defense coupled with a swift offense handed the College a 40-13 defeat, ending our Shrine Bowl hopes.

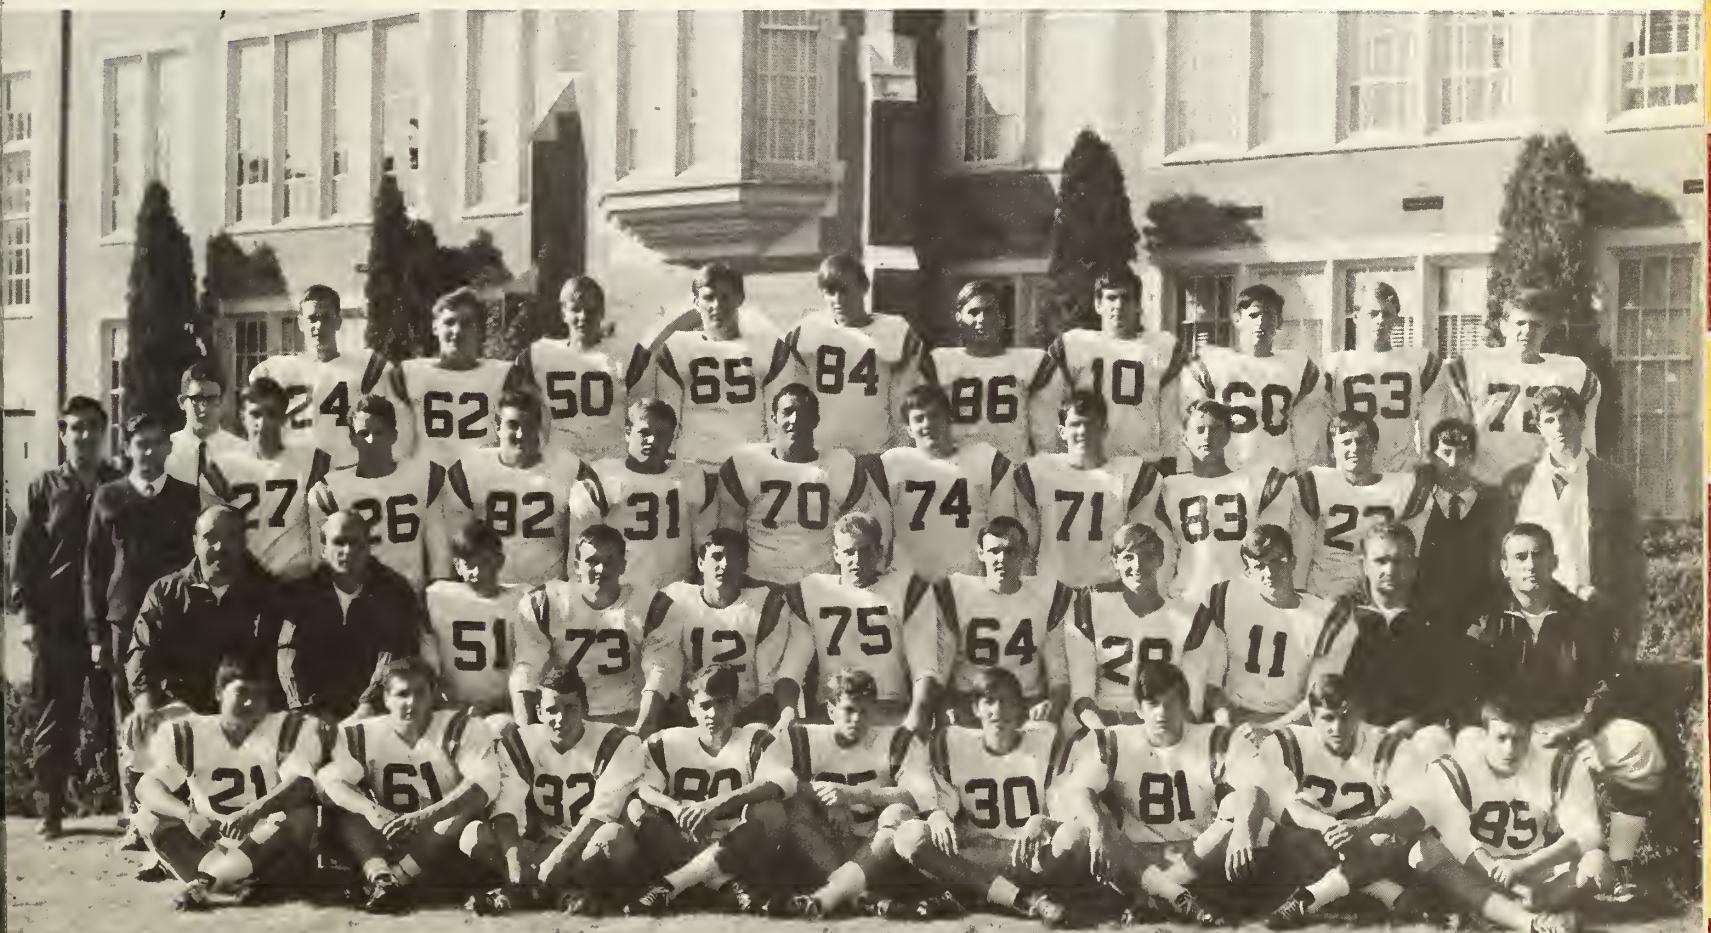

There were many individual standouts on this year's team. In the offensive backfield, Ross MacDougall, Paul Giroday, Rich Hugh and Richard Longpré provided the power. Rob Harrington, Terry O'Neill, Jim Harrington and Lou Struve gave the backfield the blocking they needed. The defense, which shut out four teams, was led by Mike MacKay-Dunn, Silvano Ranalletta, and Mike Giuliani. Because of the great number of juniors and sophomores, the Irish look strong for next season.

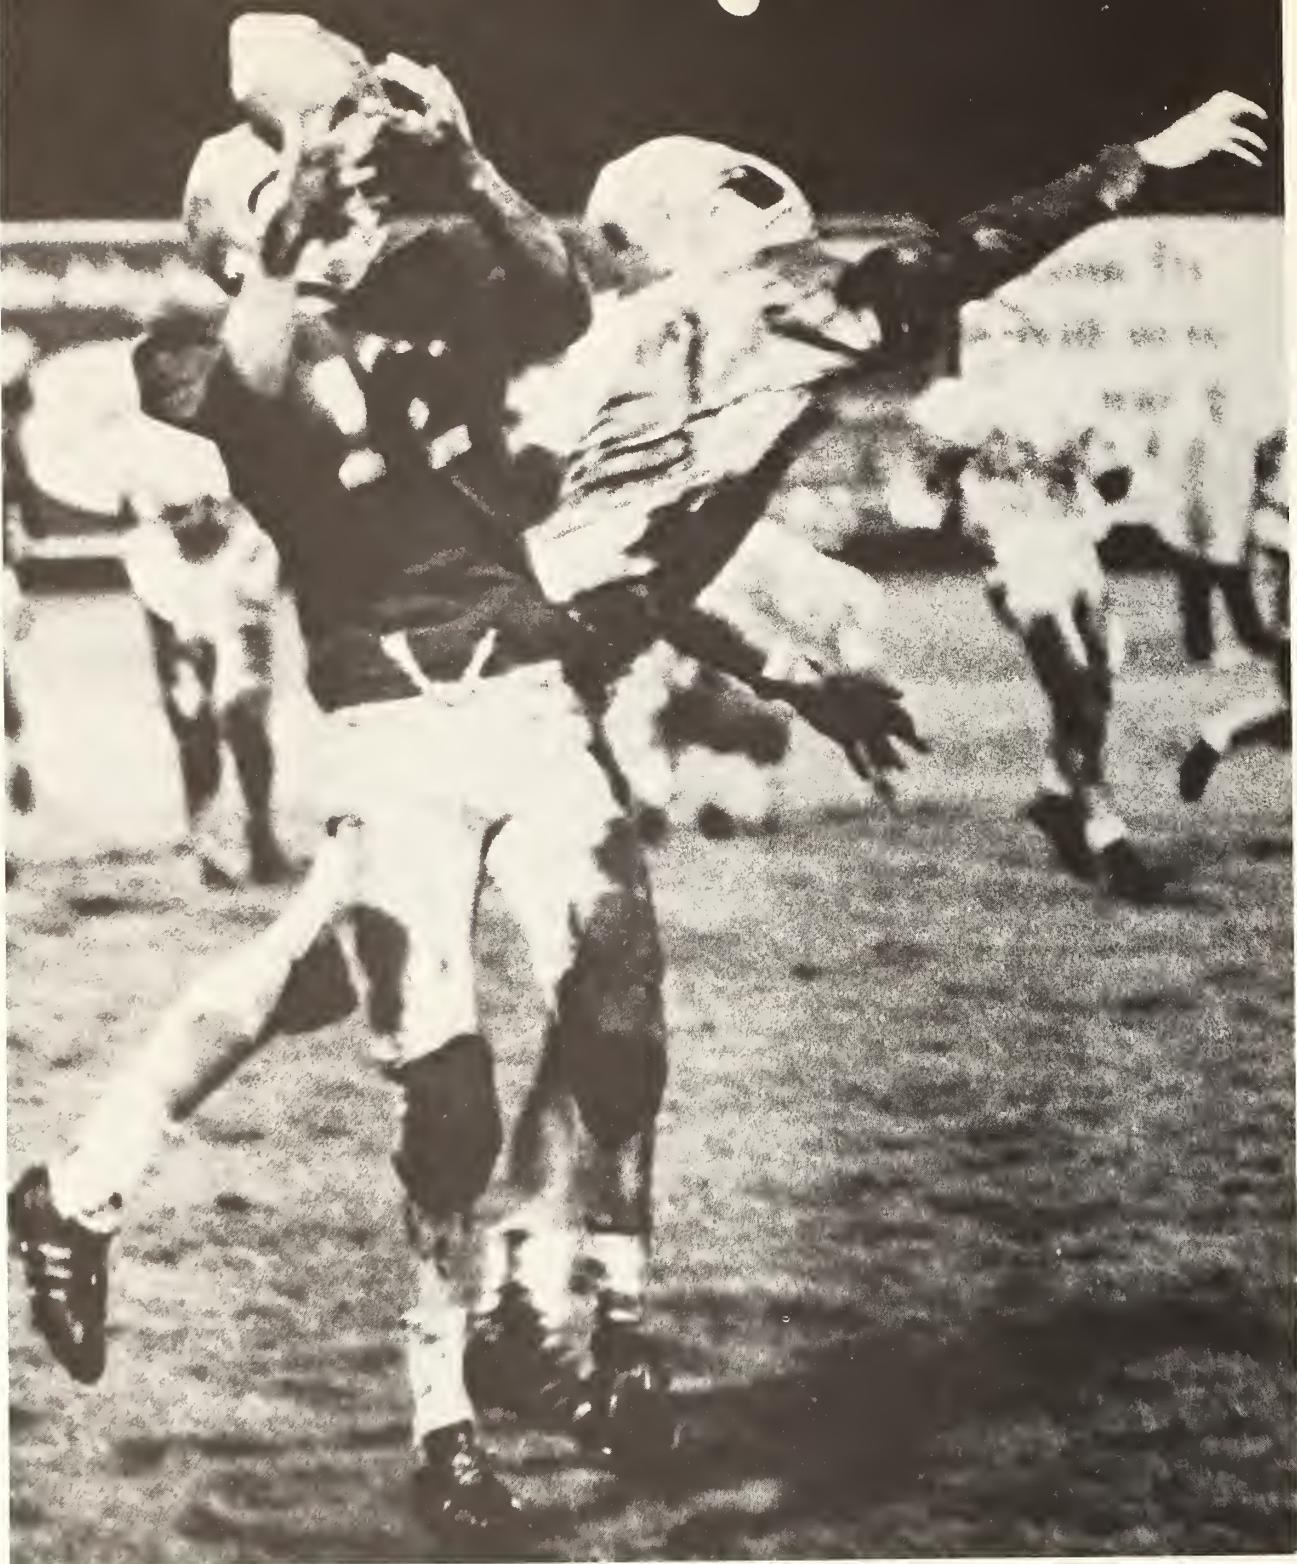

Tom Gordon tops the action.

J.V. FOOTBALL '68

This year's Junior Varsity team showed the spirit and determination that has been a trademark of all Irish teams. Under the capable coaching of Br. King, the J.V.'s recording three victories, Como Lake 21-0, Montgomery 12-0, and St. Thomas More 20-0, and one tough disappointing 13-6 defeat at the hands of Notre Dame. The experience and skills acquired by the members of the team will be invaluable in the years to come.

We extend our apologies to the J.V. team members. Due to technical difficulties, the team picture was not available for reproduction.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Coach Crame urges his players to give just a little bit more.

For a record nineteenth time the Fighting Irish gained entrance into the B.C. High School basketball championship this season. College did not have the luck of the draw though, for on the first day they played tournament favourite Oak Bay and lost 44 to 30. Playing against Trail in the second game the Irish won in overtime, but in their third game, again in overtime, the team lost to Nanaimo 54 to 49 and were eliminated from further play.

The varsity started slowly this year, the highlight of their exhibition season being the winning of our own Emerald Tournament. Paul Giroday was voted most valuable player in the tournament with Phil Eivemark and Nick Gallagher being chosen for the first all-star team. In the Cross-Mainland League the Irish fought to a second place finish, with an eight and four won-lost record. Highlight of the league's season came when College defeated M.E.I. 54 to 53.

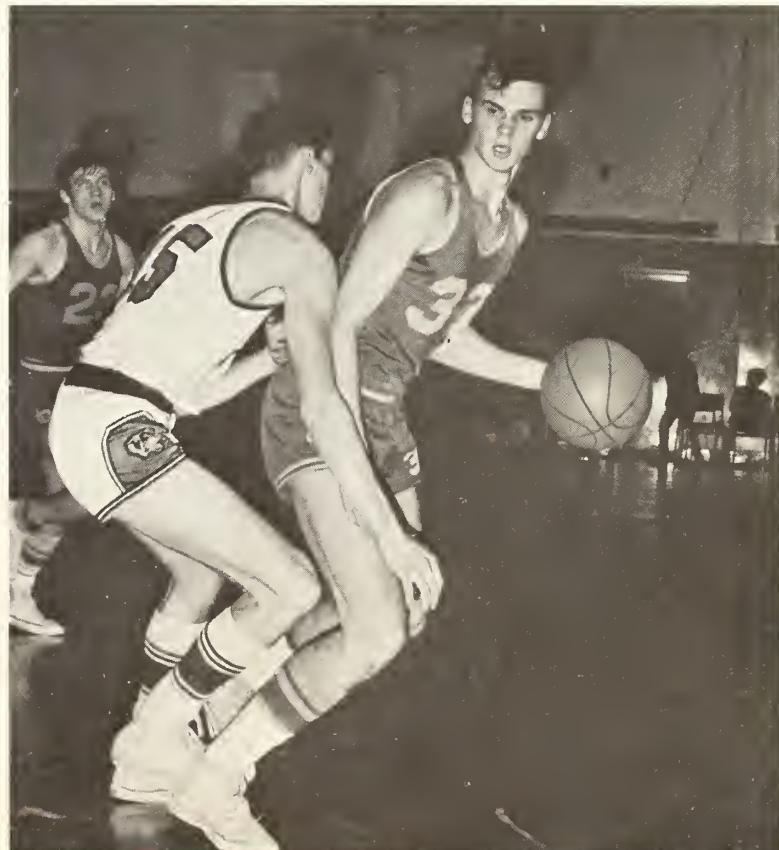

With inconsistent scoring the Irish had to rely heavily on their defense throughout the season. Leading the Irish defenders were Paul Giroday, who consistently harassed the opposition and Bill Fraser, whose shot-blocking and rebounding abilities were greatly relied upon. Offensively Phil Eivemark was the season's high scorer, with Hugh Legg and Ed Flood adding valuable points.

Concern shows on the faces of managers Bill O'Brien and Manrico Baumann.

Hugh Legg, Bill Fraser, and Rick Wilander have one aim in mind—the ball.

Nick Gallagher speeds up the court against a John Oliver defender.

B.C. TOURNAMENT

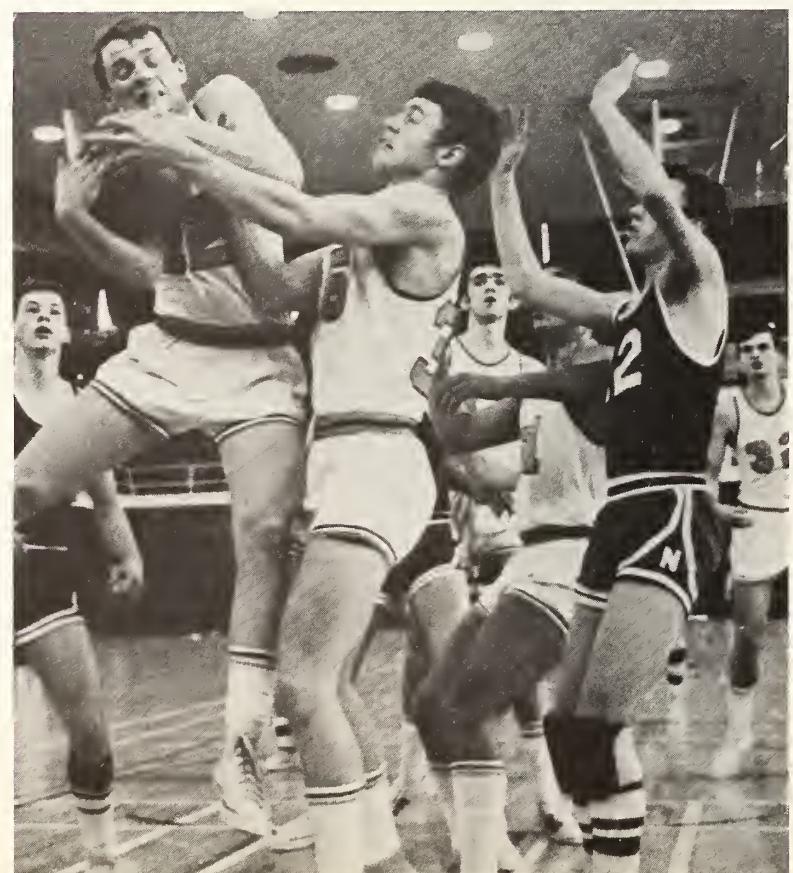

Phil Eivemark and Paul Giroday team up to defend against a Nanaimo attacker.

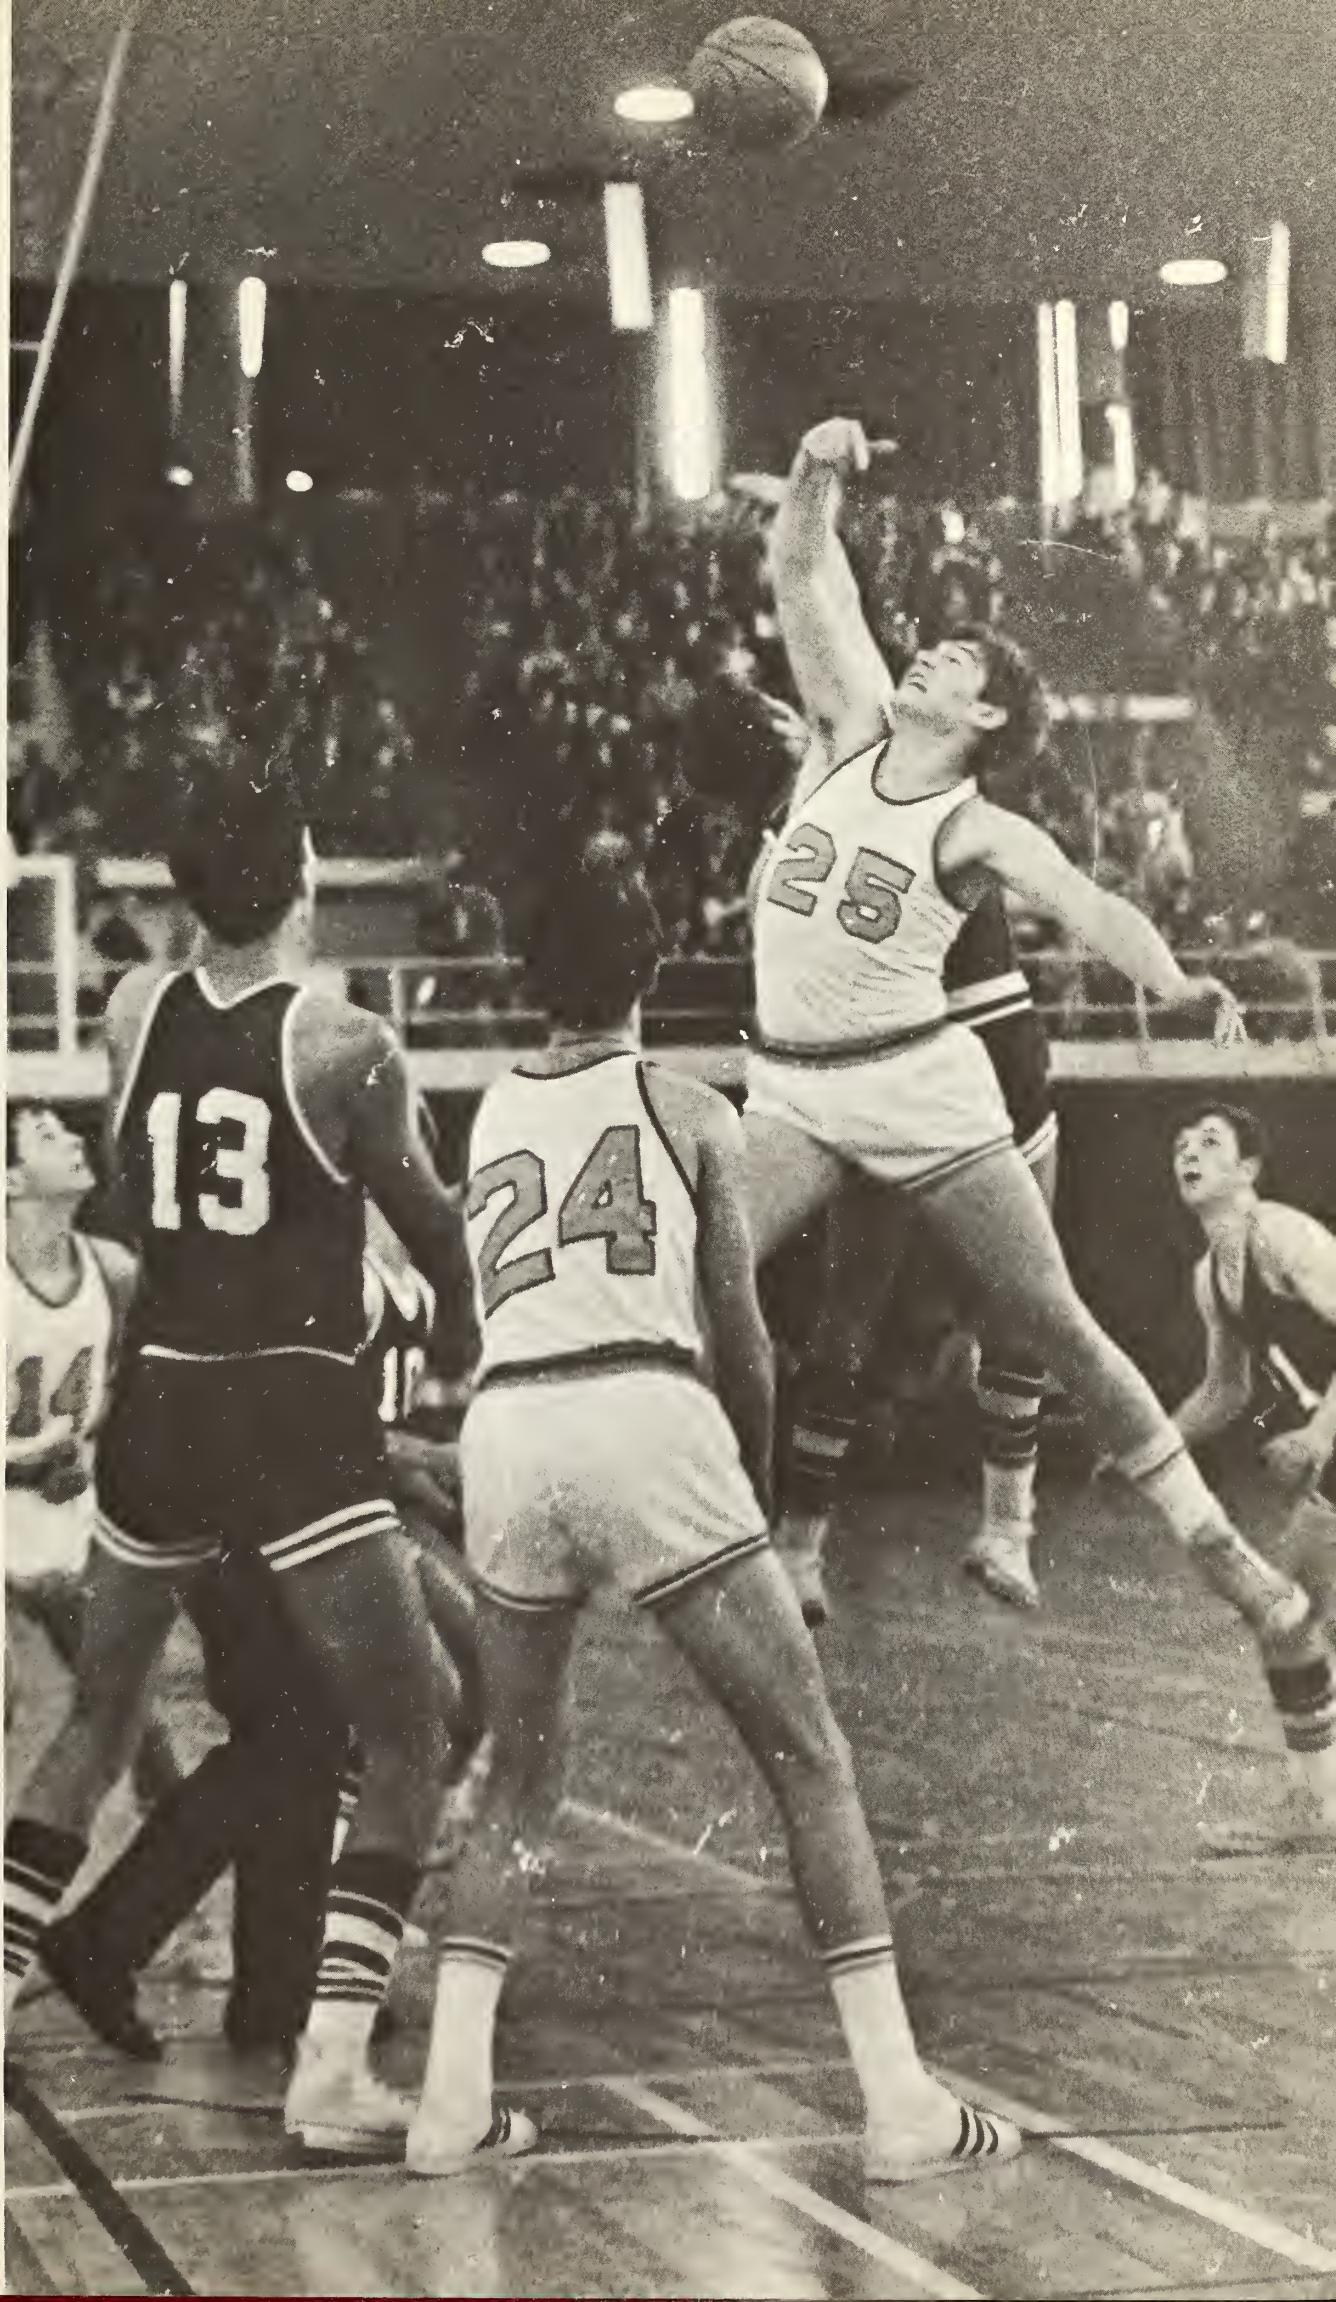

With his classy hook-shot Nick Gallagher nets two points.

INTERMEDIATES '69

Mike Kelly refuses to be intimidated by a stubborn defender.

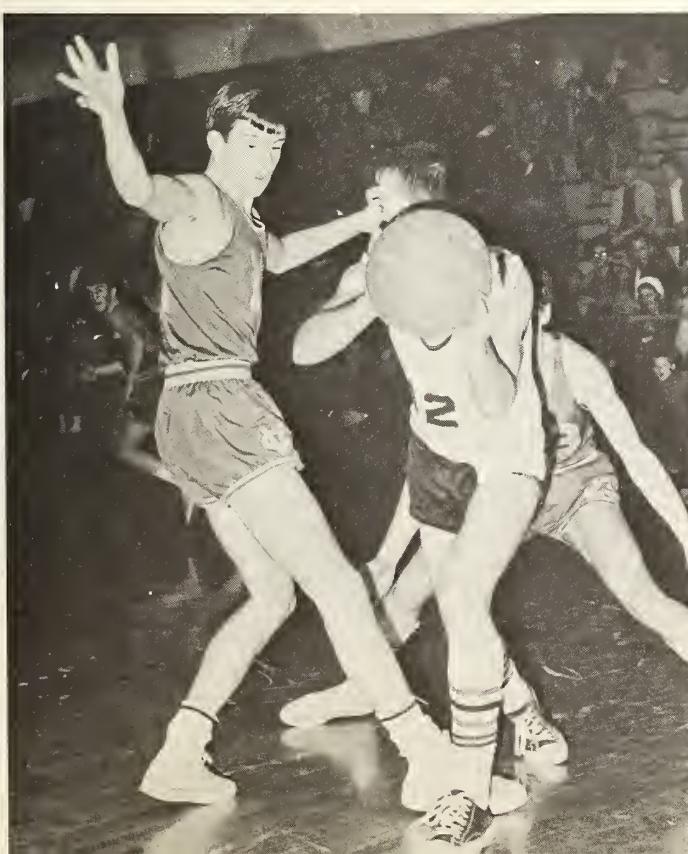

This year's intermediate team was very successful. Under the leadership of Coach Crame the Irish attained a record of ten wins and two losses in the intermediate division of the tough Cross-Mainland League, a record good enough for second place. Both losses were to the eventual league winner. The Irish were led on the backcourt by sharp-shooting guards Nick Gallagher, the team's leading scorer, and Dan Baker. Standouts on the boards were Mark Schretlen and Rick Wilander.

Rick Wilander eyes the basket as he moves past his check.

In a crowd, Mark Schretlen brings down the rebound.

Tim Mylett from the side, and Hugh MacKinnon from behind, worry a frustrated opponent.

Mike Dickinson moves up on his opponents at the Achilles Indoor Meet.

TRACK

Bruce Hunter and John Munsie set the pace.

Franco Postro surges past Mark Simpson in a cross-country run.

Brother Pender puts the track team through conditioning exercises.

The Vancouver College Track Team, under the leadership of the coach, Br. Pender, regained the prominence which had been absent in recent years. During the past year the team has done well in many track meets including the Catholic High School Track and Field Meet where the College was first in the boys' section and second overall, the Vancouver Relays where the team finished third among high schools, and in the B.C. high school inter-high track and field champions. Standouts on the team were Albin Dukowski, who set a Canadian record (10.6 seconds) in the juvenile boys' 100 yard dash and Chris White who was captain of the Cross-Country team.

Larry Oleskiw runs the final leg in the Vancouver Relays at Brockton Oval.

Andy Perry heads toward the finish line.

JUNIOR VARSITY '69

Danny Sullivan fights for the ball as Dave Mills looks on.

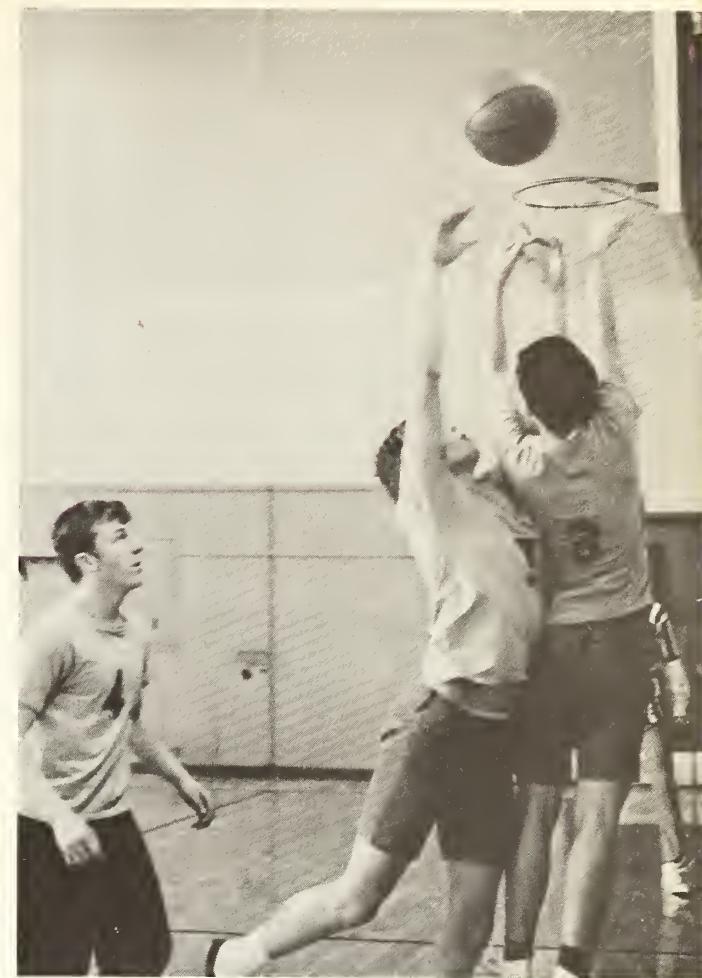

Under the experienced coaching of Brother Kelly, the Junior Varsity had a fine season. Against grade nine competition the J.V.'s were 15 and 2; against grade tens the Irish had a 13 to 9 win-loss record. Highlight of the season was the capturing of the Independent League Championship.

Mike McLaughlin drives towards the basket.

Max Fraser harasses John Cullen.

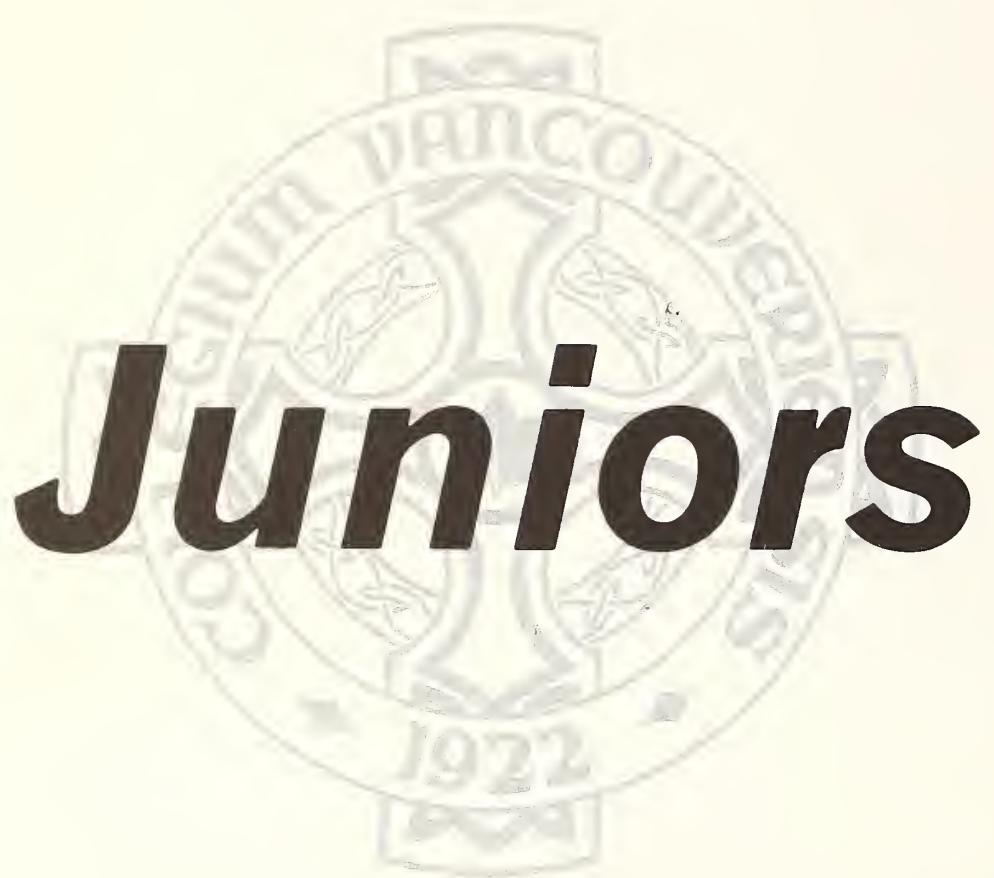

Brad Dusseault awaits the outcome as a rebound is hotly contested.

INTRAMURALS '69

Brian Bergstrom shoots over Bob Harrington's outstretched arm.

This year's intramural basketball was the subject of much attention. Under the direction of Br. Dunn, twelve teams from grades nine to twelve competed in a highly organized after-school league. Teams from grade nine and ten played in a junior league, while teams from grade eleven and twelve played in a senior league. In the junior final, class 103 "Shooters" trounced class 92 "Lakers" in a game that was never in doubt. In the senior final, highly favoured class 121 "Happy Hoopers" were upset by class 113 "Wildecats" who showed a fine combination of ball control and rebounding in an impressive victory.

THE COLLIFLOWERS OF '69

Diligence is the key to success.

With the reorganization of the curriculum in B.C. in 1965 it became increasingly difficult for the small school to offer the range of choices proposed. In the fall of 1967, the Little Flower girls in Grades 11 and 12 began to attend specialist option courses in Math 12, Chem 11 and 12, and Physics 11 and 12 at College. The arrangement proved to be highly satisfactory and has been continued during the present school year. Well over thirty young ladies may be seen in our corridors, classrooms and laboratories, impressing all with their seriousness of purpose and causing no problems at all.

It consisted of students of varying talents who staged skits, played musical instruments, and sang through about two and a half hours of entertainment. The show delighted an audience of over five profit of three hundred and twenty-five dollars which was donated to the Vancouver Retarded Children's Fund.

Some men to whom is much allowed,
Of wealth and fame grow ever proud;
Head high, chest blown, they strut about
Their least command they loudly shout
But they forget...a blunder grave,
Good Luck lets no man misbehave.

Yes, his money proves that he be shrewd,
But it grants no privileges to be rude,
And the richer the man, then he
The gentler, kinder, ought to be,
So if fortune smiles on you, be glad,
But be grateful too...some luck you've had,
And long remember what I've said,
For whatever you gain...don't lose your head.

*Where in the
are You Going?*

Nowhere, my boy, without an Education . . . That's why we Businessmen of North America strongly urge you not to be drop-outs, but to be Stay-Ins . . . You, the Youth of today, will be the Businessmen of tomorrow. In your hands lies the capability for Success . . . Success is everybody's goal, and Education provides the way to achieve it . . . Success takes many forms. Only one of these is financial. Others include personal achievement, individual leadership, or the unique satisfaction which comes from a job well done . . . Success can be attained within the home, in sports, politics, business, and in the many fields of culture, science and learning . . . Success knows no limits, but it has a strong door which must be opened. And the Key to that door is Education.

Behind the scenes in last year's production of "Alexander the Great", Mr. and Mrs. John Benson, the directors, talk over ideas which made the play such a success.

One of Alexander's generals (Ken Chase) is received by the Persian king (Joe Alvero). Looking on is a servant (Ed Des Roches) of the king.
